PROTECT YOURSELF ONLINE (continued from front)

One easy thing you can do is to ensure your home PC has up-to-date virus protection software. These filtering systems can act as your first line of defense against virus attacks. When checking email, remember that if you are not expecting an email from someone, or that the email seems out of the ordinary, don't open it. Often times, simply opening an email attachment can result in a virus being downloaded without your knowledge.

Social media sites are another popular outlet that identity thieves utilize to gather information. When it comes to sharing information, remember that in many cases less is more. Be wary of information about yourself that you make public through social media sites and ensure that you know how to remove information that you may not want seen by the general public. Take a moment to update your privacy settings to ensure your information is only accessed by those you want to have see it.

Some companies and financial institutions have chosen to participate in the social media environment, and at this time LaPorte Savings Bank has chosen not to. We want to avoid the possibility of personal financial information being shared online inadvertently and encourage you to continue to contact us in person or by phone in the event you have a question or concern with your account. Domain names for our company have been secured with social media outlets such as Facebook, Twitter, and LinkedIn to help ensure a 'spoof site' or fraudulent site is not developed in our name, but at this time, those pages will not operate under an active status.

Notes & News

Beginning July 2011, LaPorte Savings Bank will update its Funds Availability policy to comply with the Dodd-Frank Expedited Funds Availability Act. The Act requires financial institutions to make the first $200 of a deposit available to the consumer for next day withdrawal.
